EDITORIAL

Working together on the Afterglow as a combined project, the print shop and journalism department present this as one of their outstanding projects for this semester. The four editors of the magazine are Mark Marlais, Ray Yeaw, Tad Hirota, and Eddie Wong.

Supervising the monotyping of the senior memories was Mr. Harry Clemons. Make-up and hand-setting work were done by Mr. W. G. Middleton's class, while Mr. J. N. Harrison took charge of the press work on the book.

To help in the finance of the Afterglow, the senior class under the leadership of Marlais, president, staged a skating party at Rollerland. Support by the high seniors, board of commissioners, clubs and committees made it possible to finance this book.

Marlais, editor-in-chief, and Yeaw planned the make-up of the semi-annual; while Hirota and Wong, associate editors, were in charge of the literary part of the book. Mrs. Lois McRoy Jones, adviser, helped the boys in their work.

All writing was taken care of by the two literary editors except for the girls' sports, which were written by Golda May Rasette, sports columnist and associate editor of the Record.

Mr. James K. Sebree of the Oakland National Engraving Company aided in the make-up of the magazine. Photography work of the senior book was by the Barboni Studio.

A new idea for the sale of the book was started this term by Joe Chimienti, sales manager. Tickets entitling the purchasers to receive their Afterglows at the end of the semester were sold. As a sales stunt, Joe offered a prize for the purchaser of the lucky ticket.

Over seventy cover designs were made by the print drawing class, under the direction of Mr. Middleton. Mark's cover design which is used for this book was voted the best among them by the printing group and the staff.

DEDICATION

To the accomplishments of the McClymonds faculty and student body, who carried on despite their recent adversities, and to the fine sportsmanship displayed by them—we dedicate this book.

FOREWORD

This senior memory book frames activities and achievements under the leadership of those in responsible positions who have so faithfully contributed to the progress of McClymonds High School. We hope that the readers in perusing these pages, be it now or years later, will see therein the golden days—the joyous moments spent working together with a common aim. All the disagreeable things forgotten, may they remember only the friendships made, and the events which have since been molded from intangible experiences into a clear and distinct memory of good old days.

SENIOR EVENTS

With Dwight Brown as chairman of the day, the high and mighties of Spring, 1936, observed Senior Day on April 30. Two hundred and twenty low and high seniors participated in the celebration, arranged for the graduates by the Senior Day committee.

A skit by the committee was presented for the Spring and Fall term graduates in the Durant auditorium. Rounding out the day's program the low twelves gave a dance in honor of the mighties.

Aiding Dwight on his plans were Max Barlow, Rinaldo Caruso, Marie Conde, Bennie Corbello, Nade Kovacich, Marian Herzig, George Geis, Margaret Knocke, Eleanor Martini, Catherine Rossi, Tom Wilcox, Elaine Regas, and Mark Marlais.

Tribe students donned ball bearings on the eve of March 20 at Rollerland for the "Spill Frolic" sponsored jointly by the senior class and the Afterglow staff. Two hundred and thirty graceful Indians attended the skating party, which was held to boost the general fund.

Heading the committee of the "flopping carnival" were Mark Marlais, Ray Yeaw, Tad Hirota, and Eddie Wong. Chaperons at the party for skaters were Mr. Charles Cooley and Mrs. Lois McRoy Jones.

Out of twelve offices in the Board of Commissioners, six positions were occupied by the June graduates during the term. The high twelve student body leaders are George Jardine, Eddie Gamba, Eugenia Brochier, Tad Hirota, and Gladys Radovan.

Jardine, who has been vice-president and member of the basketball varsity, headed the student body last semester. Eddie, varsity baseball player for three seasons, served as vice-president and Louise, former girl yell leader, took care of the minutes.

Hirota, who served the school while a high junior as sports editor, later editor-in-chief of the Record, held the office of commissioner of boys' athletics. Girls' sports were in charge of Gladys Radovan, and Eugenia planned dances for the Mackites. Although night dances other than senior Proms have been abolished for many terms, Eugenia staged an evening pay dance for card holders on April 24.

Climaxing their social affairs at Mack, the high seniors presented a formal ball in the McClymonds gym on June 5. Mr. D. O. Brillhart, with the help of the prom committee, took care of the dance.

The committee, with boys from Mr. Walter Huston's and Mr. Charles Russell's classes, decorated the gym for the evening. The prom group is headed by Eugenia Brochier.

Other members were George Napolitano, George Jardine, Margie Ruiz, George Stevenson, Mabel Santi, Rose Woods, Elaine Regas, Jack Sweeney, Tad Hirota, Hubert Roan, Vic Remotto, Phyllis Boardman, and Ralph Uribe.

Camera Day, sponsored by the Afterglow staff and senior class, was held April 17. Products from the day of camera clicking may be seen on the two snapshot pages of this Afterglow. In conjunction with the event, the board of commissioners staged "Get Acquainted Day."

Tad Hirota, commissioner of boy's athletics and associate editor of the Afterglow, was chosen as the most worthy student of the Spring graduating class. Five other seniors were recognized for their outstanding work in their stay at McClymonds.

Most worthy honors in chemistry were given to Louis Ghilardi, while recognition for outstanding work in print and drawing department was given to Mark Marlais, Afterglow editor.

Teachers also voted Phyllis Boardman outstanding in her accomplishments in the commercial field; Mary Bof, for her judiciary and welfare work; and Rinaldo Caruso was praised by the athletics department.

CLUBS AND COMMITTEES

ADVERTISING: Advertising dances, parties, and games with posters has kept Miss Mabel Whitmore's advertising committee busy throughout the semester. Ray Dierking in charge.

G. A. A.: In promoting play days and other girls' activities, the G. A. A., led by Commissioner Gladys Radovan, was aided by Mrs. Helen Ketler, adviser; Katie Milichich, vice-chairman; and Louise Todaro, secretary.

BOYS' HI-Y: The Hi-Y Society was piloted by Louis Ghilardi, chairman, and Mr. Arthur Jones, teacher-director. Other active officers were Ray Lausten, vice-president; Gus Ramos, minute taker; and George LeSire, treasurer.

PROGRAMS AND ENTERTAINMENT: Because of the lack of an auditorium, Mrs. Mabel Balensiefer's programs and entertainments committee had a hard time in presenting assemblies. Abdo Allen presided as chairman; with Tom Wilcox, vice-president; and Frances Petruzzelli, secretary.

FINANCE: Handling all money matters was the job of Katie Milichich, commissioner, and her helpers. The finance department was composed of Robert Tack, vice-president; Mabel Santi, secretary; Mr. Walter Huston, adviser; Dorothy Fernan and Elsie Crosetti, sergeant-at-arms.

CLASSES: Preparing 812 young ladies and gentlemen to meet the world was the job of the McClymonds High School faculty during the Spring semester of 1936. Deemed ready for the world,—or ready to seek a college education were 118 students, counseled by Mr. Donald Brillhart.

With Mark Marlais, Afterglow editor, leading as president; and Tom Wilcox, vice-president; graduates of June '36 observed Senior Day on April 30; presented their Senior Ball, June 5, and received their diplomas on the evening of June 12.

Directed by Ray Dierking, president; Nick Vrankovich, vice-president; and Fern Lacy, secretary, the 100 Fall term high and mighties, advised by Mrs. Eleanor Doherty, gave a dance in honor of the graduates on Senior Day.

Under the care of Mrs. Helen Ketler, counselor, were 145 high elevens. Mrs. Bernadette Skahan piloted 115 low juniors this term. Mr. William Elder had the job of steering the high sophomores. The group roll registers 155. Graduation exercises will probably be held in the Lowell Auditorium in January, 1939, for 160 low tens who are counseled by Mrs. Sara Stephens.

SOCIAL AFFAIRS: Although night dances, other than senior balls, have been taboo for many terms, the social affairs committee, headed by Commissioner Eugenia Brochier, Marie Conde, secretary, and advised by Mrs. Bernadette Skahan, staged an evening dance for student body card holders only, on April 24. Weekly dances on Wednesdays from 3 to 4:30 o'clock in the Durant Auditorium were presented by the committee.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN: After being dissolved two years ago because the lunch period schedule made it impossible to hold meetings, the Benjamin Franklin Club for print shop students was reorganized this term. Officers of the printing club, under the direction of Mr. Julius Harrison, were Jack Sweeney, president; Douglas McLay, vice-president; and Livio Lozza, secretary and treasurer.

WELFARE: Heading the welfare committee were Robert Morten, president, and Frances Gluck, secretary. The group, with Mrs. Sara Stephens as adviser, had the job of controlling conduct in the halls and in the assemblies. Big brothers and sisters, under Commissioner Morten, aided the new Mackites in any way they could during the term.

RALLY: With Tad Hirota acting as chairman of the rally group, the committee planned and staged all rallies for the term, under the advisership of Mr. William F. Elder. Yell Leaders were Commissioner Harold Duke, Frank Parento, and William Maynard.

PUBLICATIONS: The task of putting out the weekly McClymonds Record was placed in the hands of Gustavo Ramos, editor; Fern Lacy and Golda May Rassette, associate editors; Evelyn Booth, sports editor; Mrs. Lois McRoy Jones, adviser, and the advanced news class. Publicity in the city dailies was taken care of by Margie Ruiz.

JUNIOR STATESMEN: With Mr. George E. Furbush, principal, advising, a local chapter of the Junior Statesmen Organization was started at McClymonds. Helping to install the local chapter were Tad Hirota, president, and Fern Lacy, vice-president. To make politics a noble profession is the aim of the club.

BOYS' ATHLETICS: To aid the physical education department in their Oakland Athletic League competition, Tad Hirota, commissioner of boys' athletics, with Vic Miraglio, vice-president, and John Strathouse, secretary, helped the coaches in preparing the ground for all home games. Directing the boys was Head Coach Richard "Dink" Rodriguez.

HONOR SOCIETY: Honor students who earned Silver and Gold "M's" were joined together in the Honor Society under Miss Louisa Hickox, adviser. Officers of the exclusive society were Louis Ghilardi, president; Tad Hirota, vice-president; and Marie Payne, secretary. Fern Lacy, Mary Bof and three other officers served as the governing board.

SENIOR DANCE: To plan the Spring '36 Senior Ball, Mr. Donald Brillhart, high senior counselor, chose three mighties to lead the senior dance committee. They were Louise Todaro, president; George Jardine, vice-president; and Eugenia Brochier, as secretary.

GIRLS' LEAGUE: Under the direction of Mrs. Myrtle Freeman, the Girls' League, headed by Eugenia Brochier, strove for the betterment of the school. Aiding Eugenia in promoting the move were Louise Todaro, vice-president; Mabel Santi, secretary; and Marie Conde, reporter.

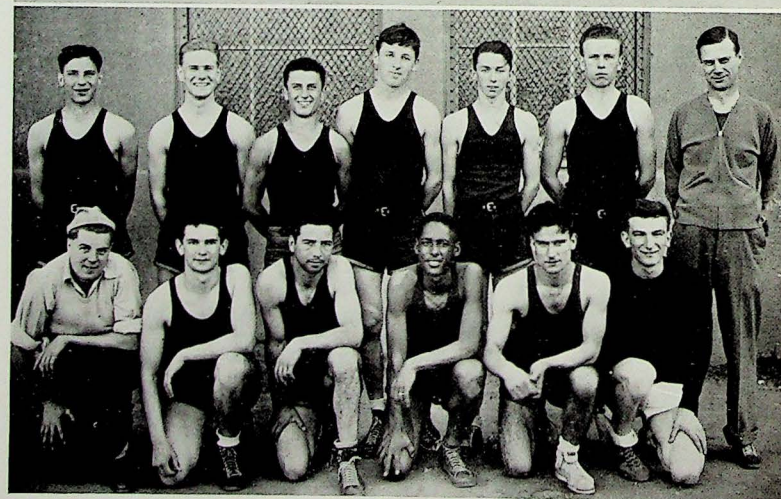

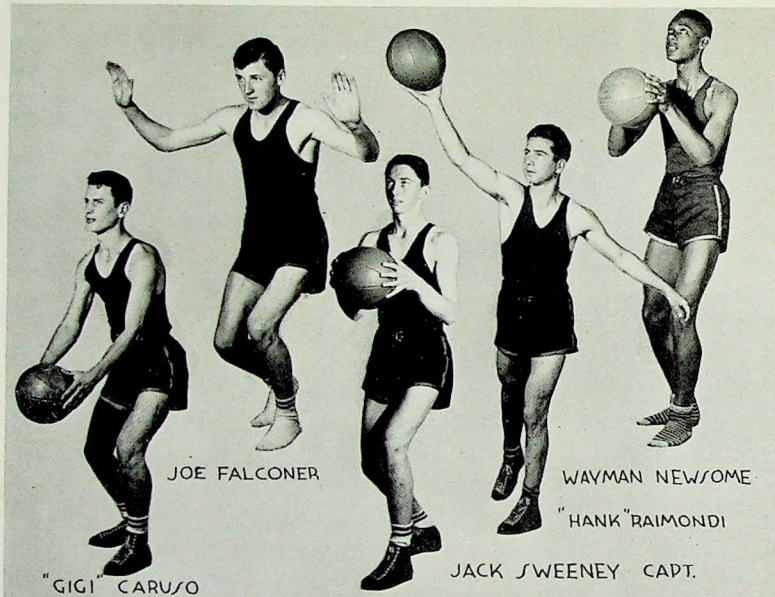

BOYS' BLOCK M: Not only have the boy-athletes served the school in sports but Block M wearers are banded together for the purpose of keeping up the high standard of the institution. Leading the assembly controllers were Vic Remotto, Block M Society president; Ray Dierking, vice-president; and Hank Raimondi, secretary. Giving advice to the boys was the duty of Coach Charles Cooley.

TRAFFIC RESERVE: Captained by Henry Hill, the McClymonds Traffic Reserve was complimented highly by the Oakland Police Department for its good work in safeguarding the lives of students. Making the job easier for Henry during the term were Norvil Moe, lieutenant, and the adviser, Mr. Horace Haight.

ATHLETICS

MACK, 31—TECH, 28 . . . Reaching its height early in the season, a fighting Warrior quintet rang up the first upset in the O. A. L. as they staged a last quarter rally to down the Technical basketekers, 31 to 28, on the local maplewood in the opening round in the tussle for the city crown. For the first time in three years, Coach Charles Cooley's lads came through to down the mighty Bulldogs. The Tech varsity, pre-season favorites, led as the initial quarter ended, 7 to 4, Jim Moore, flashy center, helping their cause mostly. Coming to life in the second canto, the Mackmen hit the hoop from all angles, to lead 16 to 14 as the half finished. A defensive third quarter followed, and when the last period opened, the score stood 19-all. Staging a late rally, the Warrior five, inspired to its greatest heights, emerged victorious from the fray, 31 to 28. It was the timely shooting by Rinaldo Caruso, Tribe guard, which saved the day for the Macks. Caruso led the scoring for the locals, caging nine points, while Captain Jack Sweeney, forward, sank six points. However, it was the unified and sensational five representing McClymonds who played inspired ball that won the first O. A. L. battle of the season for them. Bob Alameida, forward, and Jim Moore, pivot man, were standouts for the Technites.

MACK, 35—FREMONT, 29 . . . In an easy-going game, the Mack basketball team annexed another O. A. L. victory by defeating the tall Fremont Bengals on the Roosevelt court by the tune of 35 to 29 in the second round of league competition. The Warrior five maintained the lead throughout the tilt, showing good passing and clever floor work. Outspeeding and completely outplaying the Bengal quintet, the Tribe led at the end of the first period, 13 to 7, Wayman Newsome, Mack center, doing most of the damage. Fremont tightened up their defense in the second quarter and as a result the score at halftime stood 20 to 15 in favor of the locals. The third canto saw Rinaldo Caruso, guard, and Nick Rago, diminutive forward, looping long shots through the hoop, the quarter ending 26 to 20. A fast and furious last period ensued, Captain Jack Sweeney, forward, and Newsome sinking nice shots to give the Indians an edge over the fine shooting of Gordy Garetson, Fremont's all-city center, and also the ball game, 35 to 29. Newsome earned high point honors, with twelve digits to his credit. Sweeney and Caruso followed, with eight and six respectively. Garetson led the Bengal scoring with ten points, while Pete Gilmartin played a good game at guard for them.

MACK, 23—UNI, 38 . . . McClymonds' onward march for the O. A. L. title was momentarily halted when they proved no match for the classy University High cagers who beat them 38 to 23 in the third week of battling on the local hardwood. Showing just the reversal of form displayed in the Tech tussle, the Warriors seemed to have an off day, missing many shots at the basket, while the Uni Cubs were fast and accurate. Sparked by the sensational Leon LaFaille, forward, University garnered the lead early in the opening quarter and held it throughout the tilt. The score at halftime stood 25 to 13 in favor of the cubs. The Indian hoop squad rallied and outscored the Uni cagers in the third canto, Captain Jack Sweeney and Joe Falconer pepping it up for the Macks. The Tribe five was no match for the Blue and Gold in the last quarter as they went to pieces. University's basketekers ran wild to trounce the warriors 38 to 23 in the final period. Al Raimondi, forward, Sweeney, and Falconer led the Mack scorers with five points each. Nick Rago, forward, potted four digits for the locals. For Uni, LaFaille smooth-working forward, chalked up eleven points, while Jack Biles, center, Jim Gray and George Bedrosian, guards, and Jack Archibold, forward, stood out for the Cubs also.

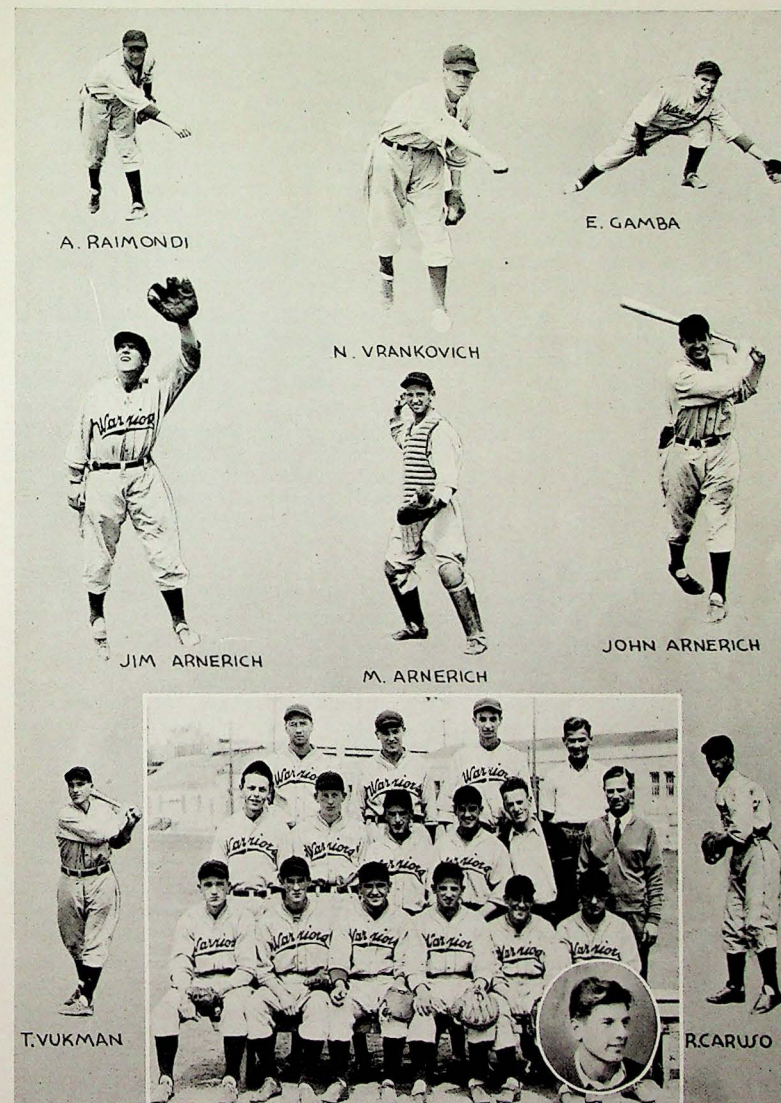

MACK, 28—CASTLEMONT, 22 . . . Fighting to the finish neck and neck, the Indian basketball varsity put itself back into the race for the O.A.L. hoop championship as they downed the Crusaders from Castlemont, 28 to 22, in the fourth round of competition on the Mack maplewood. Spirited by the playing of Al Raimondi, second-string forward, the locals led at the end of the initial quarter, 11 to 9. On the first tipoff of the game, Bob Morrish, Knight captain, broke his ankle and had to be taken out of the fray. Good shots by Raimondi, Rinaldo Caruso, and Wayman Newsome, gave the lead to the Macks. A slow second period saw Captain Jack Sweeny, forward, break through for five of the six points scored by the Warriors in that quarter. Bill Cragun, guard, kept the Crusaders high in the battle, caging two long shots. The locals were ahead at the halftime by the margin of three digits, 17 to 14. Castlemont put on a spurt during the ensuing third canto, but the Tribe five maintained a small margin, with Nick Rago and Wendall Anderson doing the scoring. Coach Charles Cooley's squad led 24 to 20 when the last quarter began.

MACK, 29—SAN LEANDRO, 26 . . . Although threatened seriously in the final quarter, the McClymonds' hoopsters successfully chalked up another win, trimming the San Leandro casaba squad in a fast finish, 26 to 29, on the Castlemont High floor in the fifth O.A.L. round. Coach Charles Cooley substituted freely during the first half of the fray as the locals were never threatened, but in the last two cantos, the Pirates cut loose and the Warrior first string was rushed in to save the game. With Captain Jack Sweeny, Al Raimondi, forwards, and Joe Falconer and Rinaldo Caruso, guards, bucketing points, the Redskins were out in front 9 to 3 at the finish of the first quarter. Increasing their lead by twelve points, the Macks led at the half mark by a score of 21 to 8. The buccaneers opened up at the third period, Art Gigli and Joe Rodriguez, Pirate aces, tanking some nice shots to tie the score at 22 all as the quarter finished. With Tony Mesa, Aldo Bennoti, and Art Hickling hitting the hoop for digits, the San Leandro quintet took the lead, but the spectacular shots by Falconer, Sweeny, and Wayman Newsome iced the battle for the Tribe as the game ended.

MACK, 29—ROOSEVELT, 36 . . . A lanky squad representing the Roosevelt institution was just a little bit better than the Mackmen and as a result the Indian five bowed to the hilltop squad 36 to 29 on the local floor in the sixth week of competition. The Warriors looked like midgets along side of the towering lads from Roosevelt. Vernon Gonsalves, Cowboy pivot man, sank five points before Joe Falconer, guard, broke the ice for the Tribe by scoring on a long shot. With the score 9 to 2 in against them the locals came to life, Captain Jack Sweeny and Al Raimondi leading the onslaught. The initial period ended 9 to 8 in favor of the Teddies. In the second quarter Gonsalves continued to hit the basket, while Rinaldo Caruso kept the Macks in the tussle. The Roughriders led as the half stopped 19 to 15. Starting fast, the Roosevelt quintet proved too good during the last half.

MACK, 20—OAKLAND, 24 . . . Oakland High's fighting basketeers upset the dope bucket as they handed the Redskins a stinging defeat in the last O.A.L. game, 24 to 20, on the Wildcat hardwood. Playing a ragged game, the Macks' passing and shooting were way under par and the Blue and White squad took advantage of the Warrior mistakes to earn a victory. The Oaks accounted for nine points to lead at the end of the first canto, the locals only possessing six. Al Raimondi and Wayman Newsome caged digits for the Tribe, and, as the slow second period finished, the Mackmen held the lead 11 to 9. The Wildcats and Warriors battled evenly as the third quarter started. With Ray McCarthy and Pete Mandler making buckets for the Oaks, and Newsome and Rinaldo Caruso looping them for the Redskins, the score column stood 18 to 18 when the final canto began. Both teams worked fast offensively and defensively, but the Blue and White lads broke through the tight Mack defense to give their school a triumph, 24 to 20.

O. A. L. BASEBALL CHAMPIONS

The Indian batters opened the practice season with an overwhelming triumph over the Stanford Frosh, winning 16 to 1. They scored in every inning, pounding the ball all over the diamond. Nick Vrankovich and Martin Arnerich were the battery for the locals. First baseman, Eddie Gamba, got the longest hit of the day, a triple.

Victims of the second Warrior victory were the St. Mary's Frosh ball tossers who were defeated 12 to 4 on the Moraga field. Al Raimondi pitched brilliant ball to earn a victory for the Macks. The locals scored runs in the fourth, sixth, and seventh innings, while the Gaelets pushed digits across in the first and fifth frames.

Playing a loose and ragged game, the mighty Warrior ball crew went down to their initial defeat at the hands of the strong California Frosh nine, 10 to 5. Nick Vrankovich started on the hilltop for the Tribe but was relieved in the third inning by Albert Raimondi. The Bearlets made good on the errors and ragged playing of the Macks to gain an easy win.

In their last practice tilt, the Redskins displayed their batting power to dump the Berkeley High Yellowjackets by a score of 8 to 5. Coach Cooley's lads netted runs in the second, third, fourth, and seventh frames, to take the Yellowjacket team into camp. Nick Vrankovich pitched for the locals. John and Jimmie Arnerich, Ernie Raimondi, and Rinaldo Caruso led the Mack hitters with two hits apiece, John poling out a four bagger.

After being installed pre-season favorites to win the O.A.L. title, the Warriors started the league competition with a stinging defeat at the hands of the cool Technical nine, 5 to 4. Albert Raimondi, ace Tribe Tosser, became wild and walked seven batters, and the Bulldogs connected for nine hits to cop the battle. The Tech horsehiders scored their winning runs in the fifth inning with Manuel Gonsalves hitting a homer; Mitchell Lisse doubling; George Mandish walking; and a high bouncer off Captain Ernie Raimondi's glove bringing in the men, after the score had been 2-all until the fifth frame. The Orange and Black ball tossers made a vain attempt to cop the ball game in the last inning with two men out. Ernie and Rinaldo Caruso doubled and Martin Arnerich singled to bring in two runs, but Joe Falconer ended the late rally by hoisting out a fly to the Tech outfield.

Clouting out twelve hits off the University High hurler, the Warrior nine blanked the Cub squad, 8 to 0, to earn their first O.A.L. baseball win. Albert Raimondi, in superb form, fanned ten Uni batsmen and allowed only four hits to give the locals a triumph. Martin Arnerich slammed one out of the park for the circuit; Zickie Pirok and Rinaldo Caruso hit triples; and Eddie Gamba batted three for three, to lead the Redskins, McClymonds had things pretty much its own way throughout the tussle with the Cubs.

With Nick Vrankovich pitching a steady game, the Indian baseball team downed the Fremont varsity, 6 to 1, for their second O.A.L. triumph and also avenged last year's upset loss. Vrankovich had things his way throughout the entire game, fanning nine Bengal batters and walking only five. The Fremonters were able to get only three hits off Nick's offerings. Coach Cooley's nine avenged the Bengal humiliation of last year admirably. The Tribe hitters earned their runs in the first, fifth, and sixth innings. Every member of the Indian Squad got one safe blow except Captain Ernie Raimondi, who was credited with two good ones. Albert Raimondi, cavorting in the outer pasture, connected for a home run. The Fremonters made their only score of the battle in the third canto.

A seven-run rally in the last two frames by the Castlemont Crusaders almost cost the Warrior aces a ball game, but they managed to beat them by a score of 9 to 7 in the fourth round of the O.A.L. baseball race. Albert Raimondi chalked up his second win of the league season as the locals banged out 15 bingles to Castlemont's 10 hits. Hurler Raimondi proved to be the batting star of the tilt, clouting three for four. John Arnerich and Rinaldo Caruso each got two for four. Zickie Pirok, left fielder, was credited with the longest hit of the game, a triple.

Behind the one hit tossing of Albert Raimondi, Mack hurling star, the Tribe nine shutout the San Leandro team 4 to 0 on the Bay View diamond in the fifth round of O. A. L. baseball competition. Joe Perry, Pirate shortstop, nicked Albert for a hit in the final inning to stop all hopes for a no-run no-hit game for the Mack pitching personage. Coach "Chuck" Cooley's squad captain, Ernie Raimondi, was credited with the longest hit of the day, a triple. Shortstop Johnny Arnerich banged out a double for the locals, while Eddie Gamba, and Jim and Martin Arnerich collected safe bingles. Chucker Raimondi allowed four San Leandro lads to walk to first and struck out seven during the fray.

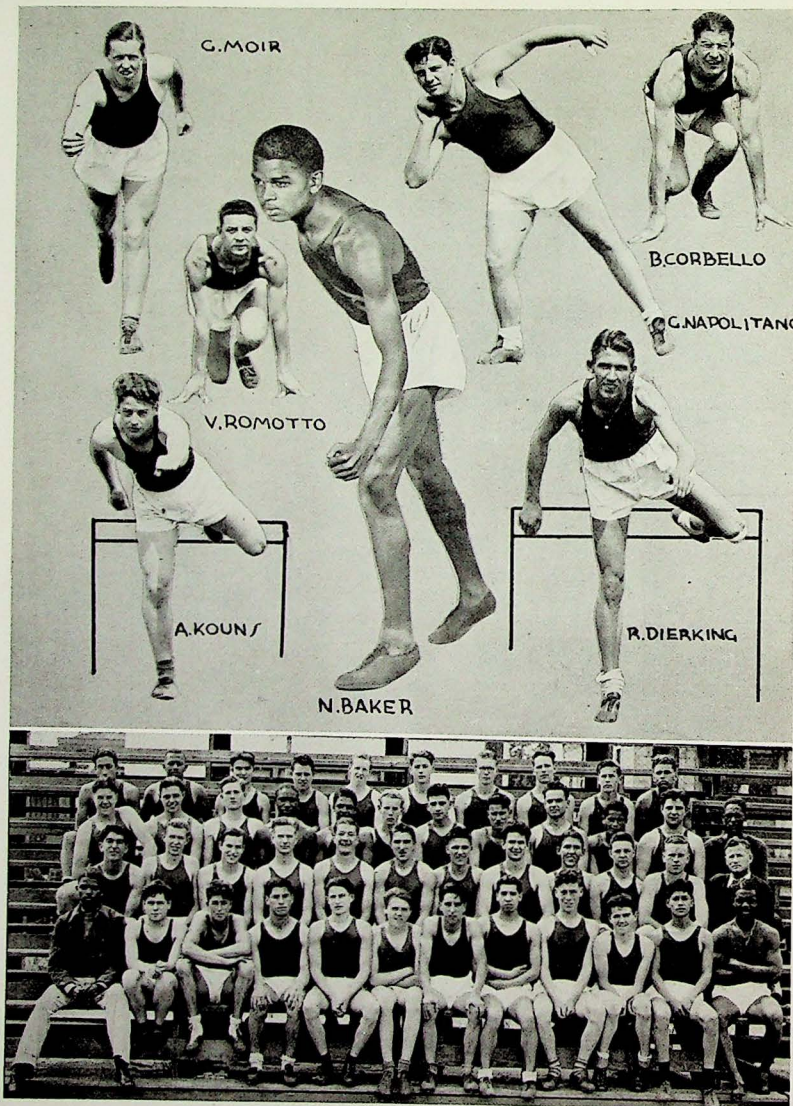

Again the invincible one hit hurling of stellar Albert Raimondi proved the downfall of another O. A. L. nine, the Roosevelt Roughriders. All chances for the Teddies to cop the ball crown were smashed in the sixth week of league play, as the Mack horsehiders tore the cover off the ball, knocking in five runs, while blanking their opponents. The Warriors pushed across three runs in the third inning, Martin Arnerich and Albert Raimondi doubling, and Eddie Gamba singling, to do the most damage. Jimmy Arnerich, soph outfielder, and Tony Vukman drove in two runs in the fifth inning to cinch the tilt for the Indians. The Mackmen earned seven hits off the offerings of Bob Whitlow, Roosevelt chucker.

For the first time since Coach Cooley took over the reins of the McClymonds ball club in 1935, the Warrior bat wielders fought brilliantly to win the championship of the O. A. L. in the final round, as they hit the tossings of Quentin Thompson, husky Oaks' ace, for a 5 to 4 triumph. Although the Macks played their poorest game of the season, being charged with seven errors, they managed to collect their hits in the initial frame and score five precious runs to win the 1936 baseball pennant against the Oakland squad which scored four runs. The Wildcats drew first blood as they managed to shove one run across the plate in the opening frame on two errors and a hit by Thompson. Coming to bat in their half of the first, the Indians made a barrage of hits to earn five digits. Tony Vukman, Captain Ernie Raimondi, Rinaldo Caruso, John Arnerich, Eddie Gamba, and Martin Arnerich all reached the bases. Martin's three bagger, with two men on, did the heavy damage for McClymonds. Thompson, Oakland High tossing ace, and Coach Cooley's Raimondi pitched great ball after the third inning, in which the Cats scored two more runs, and the tussle went fast, as the Tribe batters guarded their precious one run lead to win the Oakland Athletic League baseball crown of 1936, the first Cooley championship.

A heavy blow was dealt to the hopes of Coach Charles Cooley for another baseball championship next year when it was learned that Captain Ernie Raimondi, all-city third sacker, will not complete his academic studies here, because he has been signed by the San Francisco Seals. Ernie proved to be the keystone to the ball crown annexed this season, hitting hard and keeping the spirit of the team up. His loss will be felt more heavily than ever by "Chuck" because his entire infield does not return.

The Warrior baseball mentor will lose a host of senior stars who will receive diplomas before the next O.A.L. season. Hard to replace will be Raimondi, ace pitcher; Caruso, captain of last year's nine and all-city man for three seasons; J. Arnerich, shortstop; Gamba, leading batter of this past season; M. Arnerich, backstop; Vrankovich tosser; and Dean Young, sub outfielder. Coach Cooley will build his next Mack nine around Vukman, Pirok, Jim Arnerich, Lawrence Spingola, and Frank Silva, outer garden patrolers; Daniel Cetenich, infielder; and Einar Jorgenson, sophomore fielding sensation.

TRACK

1936 Track Team

Because it was printed ahead of time, the Afterglow sports staff regrets to announce that the final results of the Oakland Athletic League competition at the Edward's Oval on the University of California campus on May 23 could not be secured for this memory book.

Depleted of practically all his members of the McClymonds cinder brigade which captured the track crown of the O.A.L. for three straight years, Coach 'Dink' Rodriguez began building his squad from a handful of veterans and a large group of green sophomores and juniors. Knowing that his track and field aggregation of 1936 was weak in almost every event, the mentor did not schedule any pre-season meets for his lads.

For the first time in many years, Mack fans saw the Warrior charges take it on the chin, week after week, in the practice O.A.L. meets. Despite all this, the Indian tracksters developed from greenhorns to formidable cinder men to make a determined showing at the big meet on May 23. Coach Rodriguez has built up a bunch of youngsters who have one or two more years of competition, so that next season, the Tribe will be up on the top again.

Taking the place of a crystal gazer, the Afterglow sports staff picked the finishing order of the eight teams which competed on the Edward Oval on May 23. Oakland High's representatives were chosen to annex the title which the Warrior institution has so carefully guarded during the past. The University aggregation was named to finish in second place. Technical's mighty Bulldogs were selected to pile up enough points to cop the third position. The staff predicted that the Fremont Bengals would end in fourth place. Coach Rodriguez's Tribe was picked to end fifth, while Castlemont was elected to take sixth. The Roosevelt squad was slated to finish seventh, and the San Leandro Pirates were the choice for the last position.

Following is the list of Warrior track and field men, who participated in the O.A.L. cinder meet for the 1936 season: Macks' leading sprinter was lanky Manuel Gutierrez, who carried the Indian burden in the dashes. Aiding Manuel in the 100-yard dash were Bennie Corbello and Manuel Souza, both out for track for the first time. In the 220 sprint, Wayman Newsome, tall negro basketball star, and Souza, assisted Gutierrez in garnering points.

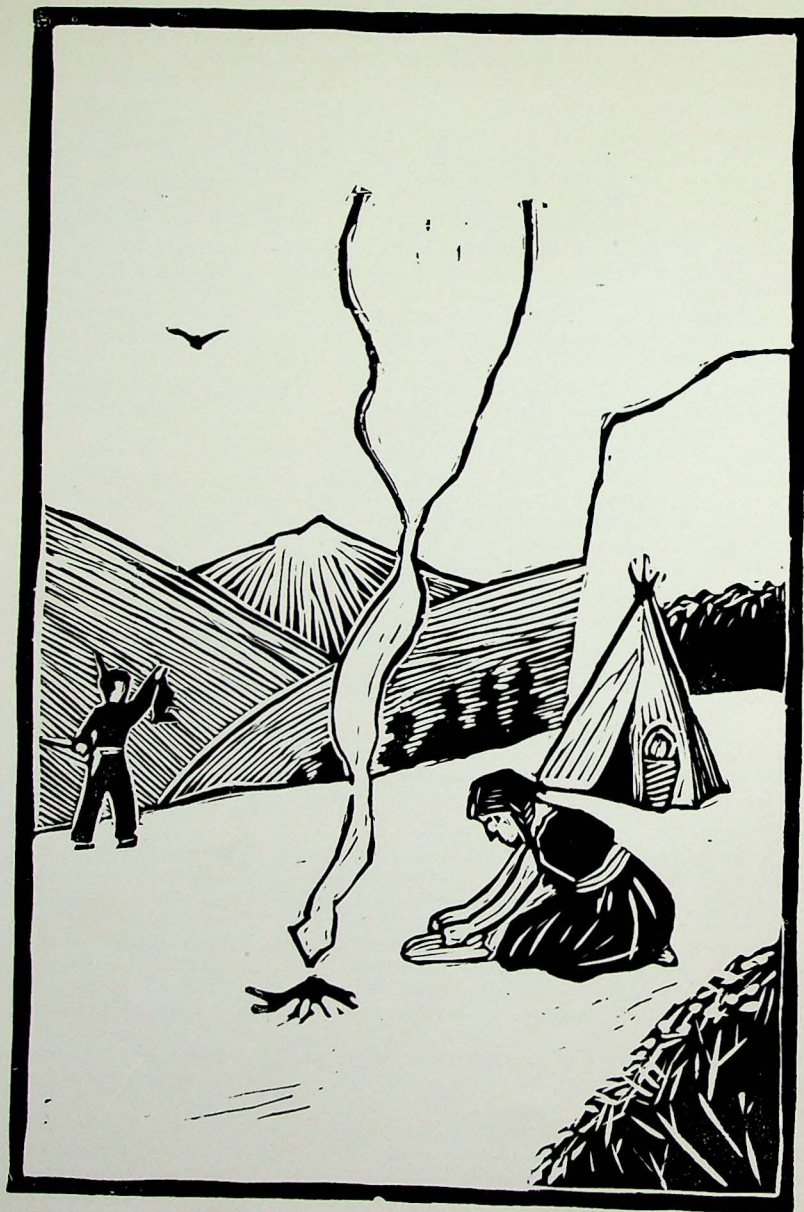

Heading the local quarter-milers was red-headed Graham Moir, one of the veterans of last season's championship team. Jimmie Verarde, who ran in practically all the track events all season, finally discovered that he was a good 440 man and gave a fair account of himself in the last meets. Another quarter-miler was Dwight Brown, varsity hoop player.

Representing the Mack institution in the 880 were Bill Whitehead, Arthur Lewis, and Victor Remotto. Newton Baker was the main miler on the Redskin varsity. Assisting Baker in that event were Ralph Uribe, Adolph Mondragon, Tony Ferriera, and Louis Ghilardi.

The outstanding point-getter for the Indians was Ray Dierking, commissioner of advertisements, who was one of the best hurdlers in O.A.L. competition. He copped more firsts than anyone else on the Mack squad. Arthur Kouns and William Wagner were his assistants in the low barriers, while Bill Johnson and Wagner helped in the high timbers.

In the broad jump, Gutierrez, Newsome, and Corbello, dash men, earned points. Elmer Starr, Thomas Wilcox, both high seniors, and Bill Johnson participated in the high jumping event.

Baker, ace Indian distance man, was also the best McClymonds pole vaulter. Manuel Duarte, Harvey Simpson, and Will Castro, sophomores, were entered in the pole vaulting competition also. Leading the locals in the shot put was George Napolitano, two-year veteran. Kenneth Bryant, husky negro, was number two man in the weight pushing event. Ben Sanders, Edward Newsome, Manuel Souza, and Jim Miller also competed for the Tribe in the shot put.

GIRLS' SPORTS

This spring term has been a grand wind-up to the six terms of participation in athletics that we seniors have enjoyed so much.

Commissioner Gladys Radovan has piloted the A.A.A. (Athletic Association Airship) through sunny and rainy weather, and will make a perfect three point landing on the Hoover stage when awards are given to a deserving crew by Commander George E. Furbush.

At the start of the journey a full meeting of the crew, consisting of forty-two members, was called by the pilot. High officials and sport lieutenants were introduced, and the yell leader was elected. The following list was submitted to the Commander for approval: Kay Milicich, co-pilot and basketball lieutenant; Louise Todaro, minute-ticker, baseball lieutenant, and peppy yell leader; Esther Vartanian, swimming lieutenant; Golda May Rasette, tennis lieutenant; Isabel Kielbasa, volleyball lieutenant; Lovine Geer, Helen Sobek, Marie Conde, Alice Ensburry, Eugenia Brochier, Dorothy Reed, Anna Vaughn, Ida Fujie, Margaret Knocke, and Kay Tamm acting as assistants.

Enroute, five basketball teams were chosen. At the completion of the tournament the Wahoos were in the lead, and, as this was a major sport, each team member received her numerals. The Wahoo'ers are: Louise Todaro, captain; Leona Downey, Lovine Geer, Jane Loeffler, Golda May Rasette, Lola St. Cyr, Dorothy Nickel, and Dorothy Reed.

The other four teams, in the order of their placement in the tournament, are: Macknites—Olivia Broiles, captain; Eliza Avilla, Charlotte Christensen, Owena Truehill, Lillian Williams, Doris Sylvester.

Basketeers: Gladys Radovan, captain; Alice Ensburry, Jean Garcia, Dorothy Kenyon, Jean Masepoli, Kay Milicich, Dorothy Rachael, Mary Vulich, Anne Vaughn.

Ringers: Isabel Kielbasa, captain; Arelia Bouie, Priscilla Fernandes, Helen Morris Lillian Steele, Ruth Woldman, Esther Vartanian.

Buckaroos: Marie Conde, captain; Vernell Blick, Ida Fujie, Menomonee Truehill; Mary Tsukahira, Doris Wadsworth.

Volleyball (scheduled every Tuesday) and swimming (every other Tuesday) were held as co-minor sports. The contest finished with the following results: Net Aces leading over Mack Aces, 2-1. The players are: Net-Wits—Louise Todaro, captain; Ida Fujie, Margaret Knocke, Kay Milicich, Lovine Geer, Elinor Martini, Helen Morris, Evelyn Morris, Olivia Broiles, Lola St. Cyr. Mack Aces: Esther Vartanian, captain; Anne Vaughn, Ruth Woldman, Eliza Avilla, Dorothy Medina, Juanita Macias, Priscilla Fernandes, Lillian Steele, Isabel Kielbasa.

Swimming was originally scheduled for the latter half of the trip, but, due to rainy weather, was shifted to the beginning, and tennis to the last part of the flight. This splashy sport was held at the Y.W.C.A. The pool was reserved between 3:30 and 4:30, each girl brought her own cap; towel and suit were included in the admission price of twenty cents. Each participant in both sports received five points for every night of attendance, whether for volleyball or swimming practice.

Those who went nautical are: Louise Todaro, Eugenia Brochier, Doris Sylvester, Gladys Radovan, Ida Fujie, Esther Vartanian, Kay Milicich, Kay Tamm, Marie Conde, Marion Thomas, Catherine Rossi, Genevieve Buratovich, Alice Ensburry, Marion Herzy, Pauline Vidosevich, Anne Vaughn, Lola St. Cyr, Marion Lofleur, Luella Loeffleur, Jean Garcia, Christina Santos.

At the Get-Acquainted Day Assembly, April 17, the G.A.A. Committee and Block M sponsored a Sports Fashion Show. Gladys Radovan announced each model: Esther Vartanian, hiking; Isabel Kielbasa, hockey; Dorothy Reed, golf; Margaret Knocke, archery; Kay Tamm, horseback riding; Louise Todaro, skating; Marie Conde, swimming, Lovine Geer, crew; Kay Milicich, baseball; and Eugenia Brochier, football.

Under the capable leadership of Gladys Radovan, the G.A.A. Committee has sponsored an excellent spring term of popular sports. Although the minor sports were started later than the major sport, the sign-ups for both have been very satisfactory from the viewpoint of Gladys and her committee.

At the close of each semester the student body elects a commissioner to preside over the G.A.A. meetings. She in turn selects a group of girls having received their first award to work with her, and this committee works individually and cooperatively for the best interests of the Athletic Association which they represent.

Members of the committee are: Gladys Radovan, Kay Milicich, Louise Todaro, Lovine Geer, Kay Tamm, Helen Sobek, Ida Fujie, Marie Conde, Anne Vaughn, Golda May Rasette, Dorothy Reed, Isabel Kielbasa, Alice Ensburry, Esther Vartanian, Eugenia Brochier, and Margaret Knocke.

Kay Milicich is vice-president, and manager of the basketball tournament. Comely Louise Todaro is secretary of the student body and of the G.A.A., manager of baseball, and girls' yell leader.

Swimming, co-minor sport of volleyball, was managed by Esther Vartanian, and volleyball by Isabel Kielbasa.

Tennis, second minor sport, was managed by Golda May Rasette. Instructions were offered to beginners, and two tournaments were held—one for advanced players and one for the inexperienced players.

Mrs. Helen M. Ketler

Miss Louisa S. Hickox

That All-American favorite, baseball, was selected as the second major sport. Up to April 24, press deadline, it was decided to play in a Round-Robin-Tournament fashion, and to start April 27. Mrs. Helen Ketler's teams were: Period II: Red Sox—Gladys Radovan, captain; Florence Mirande, Anne Vaughn, Gwen Pink, Rose Falconer, Dorothy Rafael, Mary Vulich, Olga Dami, Ruth Angel, Marie Green, Lillie Piper, Louise Brewer, Alice Brower, Jean Masepoli, Phyllis Morgan, Dorothea Silva, Mary Gomes, Pecolia Lomax.

Period III: Jean-ettes—Jean Garcia, captain; Ida Fujie, Emma Azar, Doris Sylvester, Charlotte Christensen, Alice Ensburry, Edith Allen, Lucille Hurst, Lovine Geer, Golda May Rasette, Faustina Nolasco, June McCrea, Lucille Cuthbert, Ruth Amaror Lucille Manning, Mary Narducci, Mary Torres, Elsie Joseph, Rose Nobla, Miye Oshima.

Period IV: Batty Batters—Isabel Kielbasa, captain; Ruth Woldman, Flora Campi, Juanita Marcias, Helen Pinto, Mary Tsukahira, Evelyn Morris, Priscilla Fernandes, Noelle Goward, Esther Vartanian, Rose Woods, Dorothy Medina, Lillian Steele, Doris Wadsworth, Norma Puffer, Ethel Porter, Laura Estrieto, Kay Tamm, Helen Sobek.

Miss Louisa Hickox's teams are: Period I: Diamond Nine—Lillian Williams, captain; Marie Conde, Dorothy Kane, Josephine Repetto, Cleo Buckner, Bernice Zunino, Gladys Folds, Ilene Pacheco, Mary Gugich, Carmen De Soto, Pauline Kunich, Clara Costi.

Period II: Sparkling Nine—Louise Todaro, captain; Lola St. Cyr, Dorothy Nickel, Martina Actis, Dorothy Reed, Leona Downey, Eleanor Martini, Kay Milicich, Anna Klinovich.

Period VI: Enigmas—Eliza Avilla, captain; Elizabeth Harvey, Vernell Blick, Owena Truehill, Jane Loeffler, Jane Frederickson, Lorraine Dominguez.

Tennis practice began April 28, and the ladder tournament, May 12. Instructions were offered beginners by Miss Hickox and Mrs. Ketler. Later, the inexperienced players had a tournament, as did the hardened players. Those who signed up are: Eugenia Brochier, Louise Todaro, Olivia Broiles, Ethel Porter, Martina Actis, Doris Wadsworth, Lucille Hurst, Ethel Heckman, Ida Fujie, Golda May Rasette, Miye Oshima, Mary Tsukahira, Esther Vartanian, Priscilla Fernandes, Eleanor Martini, Doris Correa, Genevieve Butorovich, Isabel Kielbasa, Margaret Knocke, Gladys Kwock, Ruth Woldman, Flora Campi, Kay Milicich, Jane Loeffler.

To wind up the basketball tournament with a grand big doings, Mrs. Ketler and Miss Hickox each chose two teams of all-star players from their gym-class-after-school athletes. These four played against each other, with Gladys Radovan's and Louise Todaro's teams winning. The first named team lost 28-16 to the more powerful Alumnae all-star team.

The all-star sextettes are as follows: Miss Ketler Group I—Gladys Radovan, Lillian Steele, Ruth Woldman, forwards; Anne Vaughn and Isabel Kielbasa, centers; and Esther Vartanian, Mary Tsukahira, Doris Wadsworth, guards. Group II—Alice Ensburry, Ida Fujie, Golda May Rasette, forwards; Lovine Geer and Jean Garcia, centers; and Charlotte Christensen, Helen Morris, Dorothy Rafael, guards.

Miss Hickox: Group I—Eliza Avilla, Maybelle Woo, Menomonee Truehill, centers; Louise Todaro, Dorothy Reed, guards; and Leona Downey, Marie Conde, forwards. Group II—Lucy Nolasco and Owena Truehill, centers; Jane Loeffler, Vernell Blick, Josephine Repetto, guards; Olivia Broiles, and Kay Milicich, forwards.

The all-star alumnae team included: Sylvia Silva, captain and forward. When she graduated, Sylvia had 2155 G.A.A. points, the highest record ever made at McClymonds. Cherry Shiozowa, dead-eye forward; Ruth Freeze, former yell leader, forward; Grace A'Perry, guard and former athletic commissioner; Hazel Hoover, guard; Elves Pursley, center; Rose Kielbasa, former secretary of the student body, center; Bessie Elliot, substitute for guard and tap center; and Mary Shiozowa, substitute as forward.
